Data Quality Assessment

Your current data is thoroughly analyzed to assess completeness and accuracy. Data is evaluated against key quality indicators to identify duplicate, inactive, outdated, and incomplete records—so you can easily see how your information stacks up.

Duplicate Identification

Duplicate records are a chronic challenge for most life sciences companies. The Veeva OpenData Services' team identifies and helps you consolidate your duplicate records, improving the integrity of your data with a single customer record for each HCP.

Global Address Cleansing

Your address records are compared against publicly available sources to ensure all information is complete, accurate, and follows industry-standard formats.

Data Append

Customer records are enriched with the additional data you need—including demographic elements, affiliations, and email addresses—giving you full customer insight.

Electronic Data Matching

Your customer profiles are linked to the corresponding Veeva OpenData unique identifier, so all records receive automated updates.

Manual Resolution

Our staff of data validation experts, highly trained in web and phone research techniques, is on hand to research, remediate, and resolve open questions about your data. Based around the globe, our data stewards have deep local market knowledge and work around the clock to verify data changes and updates.

Data Validation and Suppression

Changes in demographic data, such as recently moved or inactive HCPs, are identified, validated and updated on an ongoing basis to reflect changes in the global marketplace. Records can be suppressed based on criteria that aligns with your commercial objectives.

Verified Update Requests

Veeva data stewards fact-check and rapidly process your teams' requests to update your customer data.

Tailored Services

Based upon our extensive experience managing customer data and the results of your Data Quality Assessment, our team of service professionals design a specialized program to remediate, enhance and elevate the quality of your data, resulting in complete and trustworthy customer data.
